Mobile Post Office

Apologies for the recent inconvenience at the Mobile Post Office. This is being looked into, and will be sorted out - but may take a few weeks.

Quethiock Show - this year is on 21st July. Schedules now available from Gill Kent.

Ken would like to thank all those who contacted him after his recent appeal for help with the Quethiock Show. Very many thanks.

Friends of the Quethiock Parish Hall will be hosting Saturday Night Fever on Saturday the 19th of May.

We will have dance music from the 70s and 80s, disco lights, a smoke machine, plenty of delicious food and a cash bar. Doors open at 7pm. So break out your dancing shoes and come join us for a fabulous night! Please call Susan at 01579 348 674 for tickets (£5 each). Space is limited so please book early.

Quethiock School Cross Country

The Committee would like to thank all those who helped, and gave their support, to make this year's Cross Country so successful - the landowners, marshals, Mr John Wills for his PA system and running commentary, the marshals from Saltash Sports Dept., First Aider, the PFA for serving refreshments, and Annie Lapham & Helen from the school.

Julie Rowe from Blunts would like to thank everyone who came to her surprise 80th birthday party and made it such a happy and memorable occasion. Thank you too for all who donated to the Adult Cystic Fibrosis Trust (care of Derriford Hospital) in lieu of presents. A total of £265 was raised Quethiock Parish Micro-Library: Book Review - This Must Be The Place, by Maggie O'Farrell. Daniel Sullivan is an Irish-American linguist living happily in Donegal with his family. On a trip to the US, Daniel hears an interview that unlocks some painful memories and causes him to question his life choices. He becomes obsessed with finding out the truth about someone who was once important to him. The consequences are devastating for him and his family.

This is an excellent book! Why not come in and browse our selection of books, music and movies. It's free.

There is a new art group being formed in Quethiock and Alix Wood, who is an artist, will be heading it up.

Want to try your hand at art?
Or are you already a keen artist?

We are looking at starting a once-monthly
Art Group in Quethiock

The idea is to form a friendly, informal art group to have fun, share knowledge, and give it a go!
All abilities very welcome
